History

Over the past 15 years, the Tennessee Commission on Children and Youth has led various efforts to establish a Children's Agenda. Activities have taken a variety of forms and names, and now in 2005, TCCY is again focusing on a Children's Agenda for Tennessee.

TCCY established a series of position statements on various children's issues in the early 1990's. In 1994, representatives of a broad group of organizations convened and developed "The Children's Coalition Platform," which was endorsed by 57 organizations representing over 26,000 members.

Over the years, TCCY conducted a number of priority surveys among members of its Regional Councils on Children and Youth. These surveys included data and information about issues, and potential solutions, and helped identify concerns and recommendations of respondents.

In late 2002, TCCY convened a Children's Caucus to identify priorities for children's issues. The recommendations from the 150+ advocates were compiled and published in the TCCY newsletter, The Advocate, in February 2003.

Now in 2005, TCCY again seeks input for the development of a Children's Agenda to guide children's advocacy efforts in Tennessee.

Tennessee Commission on Children and Youth authorization number 316077. July 2005. 14 copies. This public document was promulgated at a cost of $0.08 per copy.

VISION AND MISSION

Vision:

All children in Tennessee have the opportunity to achieve their fullest potential and are safe, healthy, nurtured and educated.

Mission:

The Tennessee Commission on Children and Youth advocates to improve the quality of life for children and families and provides leadership and support for child advocates.

We Believe:

1. Children are Tennessee's most precious resource, and they deserve a safe, healthy quality of life provided in the least restrictive, most appropriate living situation possible.
2. Families and Communities have the responsibility to sustain, nurture and protect their children.
3. Government is an important partner in improving the lives of children and families in Tennessee.
4. Tennessee has a responsibility to promote positive change for children and their families, especially children in need of state services.
5. Every child deserves equitable treatment under the law.
6. Services for Tennessee children should be provided through a system of care that strives for continuous improvement.
7. The Tennessee Commission on Children and Youth provides objective evaluations and accurate information so Tennesseans can make good decisions for children.

WHY A CHILDREN'S AGENDA?

Tennessee needs a Children's Agenda to provide a blueprint for improving the quality of life for children and families. In 2005, the Tennessee Commission on Children and Youth will engage in and lead an effort to create this Children's Agenda with a focus on the following as guiding principles:

- The right thing to do should guide the Agenda.
- The Agenda should be data-driven.
- Prevention of negative outcomes should be a cornerstone of the Agenda.
- The Agenda should be solutions oriented.
- Evidence-Based Best Practices should be incorporated into recommendations/solutions.
- The Agenda should utilize a system of care approach based on principles of child centered, family-focused, culturally competent services provided in the least restrictive environment.

TCCY invites child advocates and children's services providers from across the state to join us as we discuss together the issues and solutions for a Tennessee Children's Agenda.
